

VOLUME XVIII.....NUMBER 298.

Whig and Courier.

How Pierce was started: The Virginians are very happy at having nominated Pierce and the editor of the Richmond Enquirer, who was present at Baltimore, tells us how it was done.

Virginia would tonight hold a conference with other States. Accordingly, committees from the States of Virginia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Alabama, and I believe, Mississippi met in conference in Carroll Hall. The session lasted very late and it was very nearly midnight when Mr. Wise, the chairman of Virginia's committed to emancipation, announced to the Virginia delegation "that the only result arrived at was that each of the States above named should thereafter cast its vote for the candidate if preferred, with the future contingency, if thought advisable, of re-uniting upon Mr. Buchanan." "This announcement," I continue, "causing me great concern; I had hoped much from a conference of States, Democrats and Abolitionists."

It was reported that night in the Virginia delegation that the speaker of the house had

He said that the committee of conference had talked of the names of Butler, Murray and Pierce, but without any expectation of taking up either of them. Certain it was that they had prejel upon no one, and the Convention was further out at sea than before. The next morning early, as Mr. Wm. of Haver, Mr. Mason of King George, and myself lay in bed, the latter gentleman and myself, happily, were Virginia then determined, though most reluctant, to bring forward some other gentleman as the representative of the "Slasher" to nominate Gen. Pierce to the Virginia delegation as a strong candidate. Breakfast over, we found, on arriving in Carroll Hall, that Virginia had most properly resolved to nominate that glorious patriot, Daniel S. Dickinson of New York.

men: the first delegation retired for this purpose. Messrs Butler, Marey, and Cass were named, and also Gen Pierce, by Mr. White of Dover. On the first ballot no one had a majority of the districts. . . . Gen Pierce had six and lost the 6th and the 14th districts respectively changed their votes, went over to Gen Pierce and thus gave him the nomination of Virginia. Prior to this result, elections for Congress had been made renowned a "hero" from Gen. F. to Major. Lally, principally referring to the importance of the Convention taking ground in favor of adhesion to the Compromise, and especially the fugitive slave law, was read by W. A. Harris of Piquette, and Mr. E. Conway of Spotsylvania, also referred to a letter of Mr. Campbell of New Hampshire, formerly editor of the Fredericksburg Recorder, Youngblood for the entire audience of

Gen. P., as a candidate worthy of the support of Virginia. He followed and Gov. Marcy went up rapidly, and it began to be believed that M. would receive the nomination. Marcy then stood at the same point, Virginia still voting for Pierce. Things looked equally, and there was considerable apprehension that the Convention might adjourn without a nomination.

leaving everything in confusion and danger—Virginia withdrew, but refused to abandon Pierce. After a short absence, I returned to the Hall, and to my great surprise and delight, found the faces of every one lit up with pleasure as the States were rapidly wadding into the Pierce column.

Why People Drink.
Mr. A. drinks because his doctor has recommended him to take little suthin.
Mr. B. because his doctor ordered him not to, and he hates quonkery.

...found to be too drunk to answer." The expression "Pobson's choice" is proverbial both in Europe and America. The story of its origin is as follows:

Thomas Lincoln was a celebrated carrier at Cambridge, England, who, to his employment in that capacity, added the profession of a tutor, giving the students with horses. In doing this he made it an unalterable rule that every horse should have an equal portion of time in which to rest, as well as labor, and he always refused to let a horse out on his turn. Hence, the saying, "Hobson's choice." This was a proverb.

SINGULAR JAY. The Mobile papers state that the Legislature of Alabama, passed a very curious law at their last session, on the subject of selling cotton. It is to wit, a great act which enacts that no cotton sold by exportation shall be liable to taxation.
